Re: Gerval v. Gonzalez
Case No. 17-cv-12179

Dear Judge Wigenton:

It has come to my attention, as of yesterday, that my client has had prior communications with Ms. Patricia Apy, the appointed Law Guardian in this matter, and has disclosed confidential and privileged information regarding his case. On or around May 17, 2017, Petitioner engaged in email correspondence with a paralegal associated with Ms. Apy's firm concerning this matter. Again, on or around October 19, 2017, Petitioner emailed Ms. Apy directly concerning this matter and sent her numerous documents for her review. As a result of these communications, there may be a substantial conflict regarding Ms. Apy's role as Law Guardian.

I have spoken with Ms. Apy about whether she should continue on in her role as Law Guardian in this matter. She suggested that we have a conference call with the Court before she submits a report in this case so that this issue may first be resolved. I would appreciate the opportunity to discuss this issue with the Court and Ms. Apy on a conference call, but do not believe it appropriate to discuss it in the presence of Respondent's counsel.

Please let me know if the Court would be open to a conference call as suggested above. Further, I respectfully request that the Law Guardian's report not be submitted until this issue can be resolved. Thank you for your consideration in this matter.

Respectfully yours,
